Board of Assessors Have Now Reached Point of Railroad Assessment

The board of assessors resumed its session yesterday morning at 11 o'clock and took up the matter of fixing valuations on telephone lines, telegraph lines and electric and power lines. A motion was made by Mr. Bradley of Esmeralda county to refer the matter of fixing valuations on these properties to the local assessors. Governor Dickerson ruled the motion out of order on the ground that the law specifically enumerated these properties and that it was mandatory for the board to fix a valuation on them, and that if the board could neglect or refuse to place a valuation on these properties, it could refuse to place a valuation upon all other properties mentioned in the act; that the board simply refuse to place valuations upon any of the properties named in the act, adjourn and go home and thus defeat the object of the law.

Attorney General Stoddard supported the governor and gave it as his opinion that the governor's ruling was correct. Judge Bartine, chairman of the railroad commission, also agreed with the governor and the attorney general and addressed the board on the matter.

The fact that the board has at all previous meetings referred these matters to local assessors and the further fact that they were not prepared to fix valuation upon the properties above mentioned had had some weight with a number of the assessors and the governor's ruling was overruled by an appeal from his decision.

The next order of business was contract lands. Upon motion this matter was left to the local assessors and as this character of property was not specifically mentioned in the act, the motion was put and carried, there being one vote against it. Mr. Miles of White Pine who desired the board to fix the valuation according to the location and character of the land.

In the vote on the appeal from the decision of the chair on referring the matter of fixing of valuation on telegraph, telephone and electric and power lines to the assessors of the various counties, Regan of Ormsby, Henrichs of Storey, Randall of Lyon and Wyatt of Douglas supported Governor Dickerson.

The next order of business after the disposition of contract lands was the railroads and the Central Pacific was the first in the list. Assessor McTerney of Eureka requested that the representatives of the railroad be allowed to speak first, whereupon Attorney Burke addressed the board. Governor Dickerson asked many questions of Mr. Burke and tried to get him to state what the actual value of the Central Pacific in Nevada is, but Mr. Burke replied that he did not know. To many of the governor's questions Mr. Burke either replied that he did not know or gave an evasive answer, appearing much at a disadvantage in his passage at arms with Governor Dickerson. The latter seemed to have his facts and figures at his fingers' ends and kept up a rapid fire of questions which completely confused the railroad's representative.

Judge Bartine, chairman of the railroad commission, and Messrs. Shaughnessy and Thurtell took part in the debate and to an outsider it seemed as though there was really one side to the question and that side was not that of the Central Pacific. The governor read from the testimony of Mr. Kruttschnitt given at the hearing before the interstate commerce commission at Salt Lake City in which he stated that it would cost from $75,000 to $80,000 per mile to reconstruct the Central Pacific railroad.

Mr. Burke in his argument stated that the railroad was assessed too high in California and that other property in the state was only assessed at 35 per cent of its value. Governor Dickerson said he would agree to assess the road on that basis in Nevada, which would make it more than $30,000, the amount the governor is asking the board to fix. At 4 o'clock the board adjourned until 10 a. m. today.—Carson News.
